

Dear FCC,

I'm writing to let you know how much I depend on the traffic reports I get on XM Satellite Radio. I travel between New York City and Washington DC regularly on business and I'm able to finetune my driving routes based on the traffic reports I receive on XM. As you know it would be impossible to get DC traffic reports on I-95, outside of say Wilmington.

I hoped the FCC under a Republican administration would be a little more sensitive to individual's freedom of choice.

Sincerely,

Pat Fitzgerald
